Multimedia Services

Dear Members of the La Salle Community,

Because of the changes in the department, I would like to communicate the role of Multimedia Services, and my role as Director, to the campus. During the past few years, the department was an arm of Information Technology. As of this year, we fall under the umbrella of the Office of the Provost, refocusing on the academic life of the University. As before, the top priority of Multimedia Services remains to serve the academic needs of faculty and students. We still provide equipment to professors and students who have the need for technology in the classroom. We are also heavily involved in supporting events and programs that occur on campus. And we still offer the same services we have had for years.

This year is one of transition, especially with a new Director in place. I have met a number of you during the summer months and the first half of this semester, and I look forward to meeting more individuals who could benefit from what Multimedia Services can provide. I am trying to get a footing on where our focus should truly lie, how to continue serving the needs of the campus community, and how to form a mutual and symbiotic relationship with the Office of Distributed Education. I would appreciate your insight and input on how Multimedia Services, in conjunction with other areas of the University, can best serve your needs.

I would encourage every member of the La Salle Community to take a look at the new Multimedia Services website, located at <http://alpha.lasalle.edu/provost/multimedia/>. This site outlines what we physically provide for the University and our general policies about equipment loan. It may not answer all of your questions, or it may create more questions than answers. If that is the case, I would encourage you to contact me with questions, ideas, or suggestions. I have a number of student workers who are here to run the daily operations of the office, each with varying degrees of knowledge concerning the technology and services we provide. If I am unavailable, they will do their best to assist you. I put my faith and trust in them to do the work, and I would ask all faculty and staff to do the same.

I very much appreciate the help and understanding of all the departments I have had the pleasure of dealing with these past five months. Without your help and assistance, I surely would have had a more difficult time learning the ropes and becoming part of the La Salle community.

Multimedia Services is located in Olney Hall, Room 119. Our campus phone number is 215.951.1220. E-mail can be directed to me, David Munchak, at munchak@lasalle.edu. Thank you.

Dear Friends of the Whosoever Gospel Mission:

On behalf of the Whosoever Gospel Mission, please accept my heartfelt thanks for your kind and generous donation of canned goods and good used clothing on October 28th. Your donation of food was both a great help and a real encouragement to the work of the Mission. We continue to serve over 6,700 meals a month (includes 3 full meals and a snack everyday) without charge to the broken and hurting homeless men enrolled in our New Life Rehabilitation and Job Readiness Program. Your gift of food is a tremendous help in meeting this great need. We could not do what we do apart from caring friends such as you.

When a homeless man first arrives at the Mission, he is usually in pretty bad shape physically. Good nutrition is a key ingredient to helping him rebuild his damaged health. To help make this possible, we serve three hearty and healthy meals each day. We also provide a snack table available at any time throughout the day and evening. Delicious and plentiful meals convey to our men a strong sense of hope that a better day has arrived. Your gift of food helps to make all of this possible.

The good used clothing you donated is also a great help in our ministry to homeless men. In addition to giving clothing away without charge to needy people, we also sell good used clothing to raise money to support our rehabilitation and job readiness program for homeless men. Thank you for caring and sharing so abundantly.

Take care, and thank you again for your kind generosity.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Emberger, D.Min.
Executive Director

AAUP

FOR YOUR REFLECTION FROM THE LA SALLE AAUP CHAPTER:

“The [members of the faculty] are the appointees, but not in any proper sense the employees, of the [university trustees]. For, once appointed, the scholar has professional functions to perform in which the appointing authorities have neither competency nor moral right to intervene. The responsibility of the university teacher is primarily to the public itself, and to the judgment of his [or her] own profession; and while . . . he [or she] accepts a responsibility to the authorities of the institution in which he [or she] serves, in the essentials of his [or her] professional activity his [or her] duty is to the wider public to which the institution itself is morally amenable.

DEPARTMENT OF FINE ARTS

CAMPUS BOX 123

PHILADELPHIA, PA 19141 • (215) 951-1098

The La Salle University Community joins in congratulating Dr. Charles W. White on the publication of his new book, "Alejandro García Caturla, A Cuban Composer in the Twentieth Century," which is published by Scarecrow Press Inc. Dr. White was Director of the Fine Arts Department for many years and retired this year.

New!

Alejandro García Caturla
A Cuban Composer in the Twentieth Century

Charles W. White

2002, 304 pages, 0-8108-4381-1 $55.00 cloth/CD included

Alejandro García Caturla (1906-1940) was a prominent figure in the development of Cuban national music in the first half of the 20th century. His short, colorful life was tragically cut short by an assassin's bullet in his hometown of Remedios. His highly personal musical style combined traditional Afro-Cuban rhythms and dance forms with influences from European and North American modernism absorbed after Caturla had studied in Paris with Nadia Boulanger. A close friend of writers and musicians such as Alejo Carpentier and Henry Cowell, Caturla combined a career as musician and composer with that of a municipal judge.

This first biography in English includes interviews with living members of Caturla's family, photographs and maps of Cuba during that period, an up-to-date bibliography and list of works, and a CD of music by Caturla never before heard outside Cuba. It will be required reading for anyone studying the music of Cuba and will be of interest to musicians and non-musicians concerned with the history and culture of Latin America and the Caribbean.

Charles W. White is Director of the Music Division and Associate Professor of Music, La Salle University, Philadelphia.

Rational Emotive Behavior Therapy

Friday, December 6, 2002 -1:15 p.m.- 4:15 p.m.
Main Campus – Student Union – Dunleavy Room

Dr. Raymond DiGiuseppe earned his Ph.D. from Hofstra University and completed a Post Doctoral Fellowship at the Institute for Rational Emotive Behavior Therapy with Dr. Albert Ellis. His current work involves the assessment and treatment of anger problems, the therapeutic alliance with children and adolescents, and the integration of cognitive and systemic psychotherapies.

Anger and its disorders have been avoided by the mental health community. Clinicians often experience uncertainty when faced with anger clients. This presentation will explore what we know about anger in children and will specifically draw implications for assessment, diagnosis, and treatment. Strategies for treatment will be discussed along with their advantages and disadvantages. The integration of cognitive restructuring, exposure, relaxation, and assertiveness training will be presented.
